 TOKYO, Dec. 5.—That the Cal-

HIGH SCHOOL IN CONFUSION OVER JAPANESE GIRL

Selection As Commencement
 Speaker Brings Protest of Students.

In the University of California and Miss Furuta is going to the university, there to prepare herself for a life of social service. All the members of the family were born in this city.

Commenting on the case, Superintendent Hunter deplored the fact that controversy had arisen over the matter and said that he hoped that something could be done to bring the students together.

"It is a thing of this sort that frequently precipitates international misunderstanding," said Hunter.
 "and I hope that the forthcoming meeting with the faculty will settle the controversy. Failing here, it will undoubtedly be up to the Board of Education and this office to make the final decision. I have already received a letter from an alumnus who signs herself Martha Martin, who protests the appearance of Miss Furuta on the speakers' platform."

Meanwhile the individual students are loathe to comment on the case of Miss Furuta, each one protesting lack of information on the subject. No trace has yet been found of the position by Principal Keyes, but it is generally understood by the faculty that it is being chieftained and signed. Principal Keyes said that he has received several visits from students protesting against Miss Furuta and praising the faculty for its stand respectively.

Principal Keyes has announced the selection of the speakers for the commencement exercises which will be held about January 20, as Charles Carney, Harry Gross, Yuki Furuta and Libby Sahati. The latter is the daughter of a native born Syrian, but, according to Keyes, there has been no complaint registered in this case. He said she was selected on scholarship merits as Miss Furuta.

Wife Names Nurse in Suit for Divorce

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—Albert
 Slotemaker, who owns the Jackson Garage, 1641 Jackson street, was made defendant today in a sensational divorce action, filed by his wife, Dorothy, in which she names as co-respondent Miss M. Elizabeth Baker, a trained nurse. Charges of infidelity and allegations of treach-ery of Miss Baker fill the complaint, and the wife incorporates a number of letters between her husband and the nurse which came into her possession. She asks for $500 a month alimony and obtained a restraining order to prevent her husband from disposing of more than $20,000 in the bank. The Slotemakers were married in 1895.

DISCUSS PROBLEM OF APPROPRIATIONS

The report of General Dawes was not concerned only with the setting forth of the estimated needs of the government during the coming year, but it discussed the entire problem of appropriations and pointed out how savings have been and could be effected through the proper operation of the treasury. The budget act passed by the last extraordinary session of Congress.

Dawes scored the custom of making "deficiency" appropriations, declaring that the "method of appropriating money heretofore followed has resulted in a condition of things under which it is impossible for either the executive, Congress or secretary of the treasury to have before them a true picture of the fiscal condition of the government at any particular time."

"Congress has by stringent penal law prohibited the creation of deficiencies and clearly indicated that its annual appropriations were intended to limit the amount to be expended for such period, yet millions of dollars have been annually spent by the departments above the estimates submitted at the beginning of the fiscal year, and in recent years, due to the great sums appropriated in connection with the war, hundreds of millions of dollars have been so expended by the departments, a course made possible by deficiency and supplemental appropriations, the existence of revolving funds and unexpended balances."

EFFICIENCY GAINED BY CUTTING "RED TAPE"

Dawes expressed confidence that the estimate of expenditures for 1922, upon which the budget is based, "will not" be increased except through appropriations authorized by Congress or by the executive as a result of emergency or of unforeseen conditions arising after the preparation of the budget.

The budget director asserted that the "wide indefinite and fluctuating margin between the expenditures of any given year and the appropriations requested by Congress to cover the same period," would be prevented by the establishment of a "system by which requests for appropriations are based upon the actual need of money for disbursement during the fiscal year for which the appropriation is made."

"The more rigid the system under which continuous attention to the conduct of the business of government is made mandatory on the part of Congress and the business administration the more efficient will be the conduct of the government,"
 Dawes said.

EFFICIENCY GAINED BY CUTTING "RED TAPE"

"In the well managed organization, the closest contact between the source of information and the power which can compel corrective action is always maintained. What we call "red tape" in government business largely results from contact between those sensible of errors in administration and those in authority responsible for their correction. The less cumbersome the machinery for the transmission of the executive will and the closest contact between those associated with it and the

GARDNER MAKES INSANITY PLEA

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
 PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 5.—Roy Gardner, escaped convicted mail robber, will go into the United States District court here today for trial on two charges. He will have a plea of not guilty on the claim he is not normal mentally.

Gardner faces trial on two indictments, one charging him with robbery of a United States mail car at Maricopa, Ariz., 40 miles south of here, early in November, and the other alleging that he attempted to rob a mail car at the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad station here, November 15.

In support of the insanity plea, counsel for Gardner has had a number of alienists visit him and also had X-ray photographs taken of the prisoner's head. These are intended to show the results of a blow on the head which Gardner claims to have received in Bisbee, Ariz., several years ago.

Judge Wm. H. Sawtelle, who will preside over Gardner's trial, is expected to rule today whether Gardner shall be tried on both charges simultaneously or shall have a separate trial on each charge. The prosecution has asked that the trials be conducted simultaneously, while the defense has filed written arguments against that proposal.

Natives of India Dance in Fire For Prince of Wales

(By Associated Press)
 BIKANER, India, Dec. 5.—A regional fire dance was held for the Prince of Wales as part of the program of entertainment given during his stay here.

Bar-legged natives danced through the embers of a great bonfire built in the quadrangle of the fort. As they danced they sang wildly and snatched up portions of the fiery mass which they placed in their mouths. Subsequently they pirow-etted before the prince, inviting inspection of their legs and feet which were apparently moist and cool.

Several members of the prince's staff turned their fingers in attempting to pick up some of the coals.

Big Wheat Shipment Urged for Russians

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Former Governor James Goodrich, of Indiana, who has just returned from Russia, where he conducted an investigation of conditions at the request of Secretary of Commerce Hoover, arrived in Washington today and recommended that 25,000,000 bushels of wheat and corn be sent to the Russian famine area to prevent starvation during the winter. It is understood that Goodrich's recommendations were favorably received by the secretary of commerce.

DIVISION CHIEFS SHIFT ATTITUDE ON ANNEXATION

Freeholders Meet Tonight to Draw Up New Plans; San Leandro Acts.

Oakland a chance to grow and expand. It is believed that because of the protests that arose in San Leandro and Hayward and from the unincorporated territory, and because San Leandro has taken an action which blocks the plan, this scheme for reaching down the county and surrounding nearby municipalities has been abandoned. There are also grounds for the belief that it was found that such a county would not have the necessary "compact area" prescribed by law. In Oakland there is a discussion among lawyers as to the situation here concerning possible future expansion. Section 75-A of the State Constitution, under which the county divisionists are working, applies only to municipalities within the county. When the division takes place, if it does, Oakland may no longer proceed under that section for the annexation of nearby cities within any other county, the attorneys holding that the section no longer would be applicable. The area for Oakland's natural growth, it is pointed out, is down the valley and the valley cities will be in a county of their own. If Hayward or San Leandro, in the natural course, should wish to come into Oakland it would require the consent of all of the balance of the city-county, to the San Joaquin and Santa Clara lines, including the consent of the city of Alameda.

OAKLAND WOULD BE BOTTLED UP FOREVER. Alameda could not join the county of Oakland without the consent of the balance of the separated county. Completely and for all time Oakland would be bottled up. At Hayward today C. W. White, city attorney, is conferring with San Leandro's city attorney, J. Wilson Bruner, and others. On Wednesday evening a meeting of the Board of Trustees will be held, at which time the plan for the annexation of Castro Valley, Hayward, Park and Mt. Eden districts will be considered. The San Leandro board meets tonight and the Improvement Club of Oakland will discuss phases of the situation tomorrow night. White has announced himself as favoring prompt action in the matter and it is believed that the Hayward board will recommend a decision. Petitions will then be circulated.

ARBuckle WOMAN JUROR CHARGES INTIMIDATIONS

Grand Jury to Probe Accusation That Coercion Was Attempted.

A great tension had snapped and left him limp. Arbuckle faces a federal charge of having liquor in his possession and this prevented him leaving at once for his Los Angeles home with his wife, her mother and his sister. In view of the fact that a new manslaughter trial impends this case may again be continued. He is scheduled to appear before United States Commissioner Hayden this afternoon on the liquor violation charge.

According to several members of the jury that today's deliberations were heated and acrimonious and at times the feminine members to fear that the men would exchange blows. It seemed evident, it was said, that the majority of the jurors anticipated a quick verdict and that when it soon became apparent this would not be the case the protracted wrangling began.

JURY SERVICE SCORED. "There is no place for the woman on the jury," this is the opinion of Mrs. Hubbard, who is the wife of an attorney. "Any woman is a fool to ever get on one if she can possibly get out of serving," she said. "I'd rather die than go through it again."

The general attitude and language of the men is offensive to a woman. "It was the matter of fingerprints purely in the final analysis that decided me," Arbuckle failed to convince me with his story absolutely. "Once on a jury I would vote my own husband guilty if I really believed that he had done it in my heart, and nothing could shake me, or convince me with his story absolutely."

Seated by her own fireside after sixteen days in captivity as a juror in a case involving testimony which in former times it would have been considered improper for a woman to hear under any circumstances, Mrs. Hubbard today told her reason for voting to send the comedian to the state penitentiary for life.

"I believed Arbuckle to be guilty," she believed that the major portion of the testimony proved it. Therefore, I voted for conviction and no matter in heaven or earth could change my fixed opinion," said Mrs. Hubbard, with a flare of indignation.

TALKS WITH EMPHASIS. Mrs. Hubbard is a large woman, about 40 years of age and emphatic in her statements.

"I'm a housewife," Mrs. Hubbard continued, "and I didn't believe that testimony of Kate Brennan, the chambermaid, about her having witnessed duels and cloth in the room which would have eliminated the finger prints of Arbuckle and Miss Lappe on the door."

Mrs. Hubbard also charged that she had been misled by the testimony of one of the men mentioned in her indictment, while she was supposed to be locked up at the Hotel Mann. This was confirmed by Bailiff McGovern.

Hubbard said he told Olivia that it would be impossible to get word to his wife in the locked jury room even if he wanted to.

"I'll attend to that," he said Olivia replied. "We can send it through sheriff's office. They are guarding the jury room door."

Hubbard also said that Irwin told him that if he did not send word to his wife, she would die.

CHARGE DENIED. "These charges are just an attempt to backfire," declared Milton Cohen, Arbuckle's attorney and personal friend, when informed of Mrs. Hubbard's statements.

"Nobody connected with the defense is in any way connected with these charges. I know nothing of the facts recited by Mrs. Hubbard. It looks like another attempt of Brady to throw up a smoke screen."

Gavin McNab, when informed of Mrs. Hubbard's charges, said: "I have nothing whatever to say regarding the charges they have nothing to do with the conduct of the defense. I know nothing of any of the persons mentioned."

Olivia was reported to be out of town. His friends said that he was at his ranch near Calistoga.

When the jury reported to the court, the foreman stated the count was 10 to 2 for acquittal.

District Attorney Brady was plainly pleased at the failure of Arbuckle's "million-dollar defense" to obtain an acquittal. He issued a formal statement declaring he had done his duty although opposed by wealth, power and influence. He said he was ready to proceed January 9 with a second trial.

Brady denied that thousands of dollars had been spent by the state. "We have $250,000 will cover our expenses," he declared.

It was reported that the defense had cost half a million dollars.

S. P.'s Attitude on Bridge Discussed

W. J. Hamilton, chairman of the board of supervisors, held a conference this morning with representatives of the Alameda chamber of commerce regarding the attitude of Alameda interests toward the desire of the Southern Pacific to withdraw from its contract with Alameda county to build a new bridge jointly across the Oakland estuary.

It was decided that if the railway company persists in its intention to break the contract, Alameda will insist that full reparation for damages caused by the separation be paid. A meeting of the committee, recently appointed by the supervisors with Southern Pacific officials to go over the whole situation and decide on a definite plan of action will be arranged at once.

ELEVEN ARE DEAD, THIRTEEN INJURED AS TRAINS CRASH

Two Carriers Collide Head-On in Suburb of Philadelphia.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—One of the greatest wreck disasters in the history of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad occurred today when two passenger trains crashed together head-on at a curve near Bryn Athyn. Reports from the scene of the wreck placed the dead at eleven. Thirteen injured were taken to a hospital.

A relief train was despatched to the scene, carrying doctors and nurses.

According to George J. Campbell of Bryn Athyn, who was one of the first to arrive on the scene, both trains were running behind time and "wide open." They met on a section of track which is unprotected by block signals, according to Campbell.

"The trains met on one of the worst curves of the division," said Campbell. "The north-bound train had been standing at Bryn Athyn station. I was talking to Clayton, the station master there, when the other train had left Southampton, the next stop to the north."

"Suddenly Clayton ran out the door shouting, 'My God, she's gone! They'll hit.' I ran out and saw that the northbound train had left as far as I know, without waiting for orders. Clayton grabbed a phone and summoned an ambulance."

"Even as I did so I heard the sound of the crash and saw the flames shooting up."

"There were twenty-five persons in the forward car of the train from the north, and many were exploding. We were helpless to aid them all. We succeeded in dragging five out, but the others were burned to death."

"There were with only one ambulance and people dying for lack of aid. It was nearly two hours before adequate help arrived."

BOY RISKS LIFE SAVING BROTHER

ALAMEDA, Dec. 5.—Arthur Riden, 12 years old, 2226 Central avenue, would have been drowned yesterday if it had not been for the strenuous efforts of his brother, Vernard, 15, who came near sacrificing his own life in the rescue.

The boys were in a rowboat off the foot of Oak street when it overturned and both were thrown into the water. The younger was unable to swim and was sinking when Vernard reached him. Vainly he attempted to reach the capsized boat, which had now drifted away. Eugene Mooslin, attorney, living at 824 Oak street, saw the accident from his boat, which was about 500 feet away. Rowing toward the two as rapidly as possible, Mooslin threw a life preserver which the elder Bladen boy managed, after a struggle, to get around his brother. By that time Mooslin reached the two but was unable to get both in his small boat.

The unconscious boy was hauled in over the stern and Vernard started to swim ashore. He became exhausted when about half in and would probably have gone down if Henry Arnold and W. H. Schroeder had not witnessed the accident from the shore. They waded out as far as possible to meet Mooslin and his boat, which became stuck on a mud bank. Leaving the boat for the other two to secure he plunged into the water and swam back to where the boy was struggling in the water. Getting him ashore Mooslin had both boys taken to the Emergency hospital, where Arthur was resuscitated by Dr. H. C. Crum. The other boy was unharmed by his experience.

Parked Auto Is Smashed by Truck

ALAMEDA, Dec. 5.—C. F. Carroll, 462 Santa Clara avenue, parked his automobile in Webster street yesterday. When he returned to it there was every indication that a truck had come along and wrapped itself around the standing car. The rear fender and both of the front ones had been neatly ripped off. While he had been away a strange machine had passed and scraped them off. He reported the injury to Policeman

Richard Britt and the latter has been trying to figure out ever since how it was that the passing machine was able to rip off three of the fenders without going on the opposite side of the parked machine.

PEPTO-MANGAN MAKES BLOOD GOOD

Physicians Rely Upon It.
Sold in Liquid or Tablet Form

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is a blood builder. It restores blood to its natural vigor. Weak blood, clogged with poisons, causes that exhausted, dead tired feeling. It shows in the complexion, which becomes dull, lead, pale or sallow. That is because there is an absence of the red corpuscles which give skin a healthy, rosy color.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan taken regularly every day soon makes new blood rich and red. Physicians have prescribed it for years in cases of anemia, or poor blood condition. The weak blood is fortified by a fresh supply of red corpuscles. The feeling of physical vigor returns in a remarkable manner. Instead of a drooping, down-at-the-heel feeling, there is live, wide-awake energy. Sleep is more restful and the appetite sharper.

Any druggist has Gude's Pepto-Mangan in both liquid and tablet form. Look for the full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," on the package. Advertisement.

Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This dandruff is entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

PAYERS OF TAXES JAM CITY HALL UPON FINAL DAY

Williams Demands Office Be Removed From Ninth to Ground Floor.

The collection of taxes ends at 5 o'clock tonight and those who fail to pay by that time become delinquent. City Tax Collector Williams, at the end of the first tax collection season since he went into office, went on record today for changing the tax office from the ninth floor of the city hall.

"If I am here next year I'm going to bat on this subject," says Williams. "We must eliminate this semi-annual crowding of elevators with taxpayers struggling to reach the ninth floor of a high building. I have seen enough to convince me that the tax office should be on or near the ground floor."

"It has been argued that it costs too much to move the office. No provision for it has been made in the budget. But sooner or later there must be provision. Taxpayers should be better served. I know of some in the last few days who have suffered vertigo in the elevators. Some people will ride up but not down, fearing the sudden drop of the elevator."

"The office of the Associated Charities is on the ground floor. We would gladly trade with them, and I hope to see better facilities for tax collections before my term in office is ended."

MARINE GUARD SLAYER JAILED

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 5.—Wylie Clark, a farmer, was shot and killed by a marine postal guard while a Kansas City Southern passenger train was standing at Blanchard, Caddo parish. A warrant for T. A. Willis, said to be the marine who shot Clark, was issued later. Willis is said to have continued with the train, not knowing the fate of the man he had shot. Witnesses claim Clark was standing twelve feet from the train when the marine ordered him to move.

BEAUMONT, Tex., Dec. 5.—Private T. A. Willis of the Marine Corps, acting as mail guard on a Kansas City Southern passenger train, has been arrested here and taken in charge by a guard of the United States marines.

Unemployed Will Picket White House

DETROIT, Dec. 5.—Organization of a national committee on unemployed that will meet in Washington within three days to picket the White House and Capitol in an effort to obtain aid for persons out of work, was completed yesterday at the closing session of a conference of unemployed. Members of the committee were instructed "to travel in freight cars or ride the rails to the capital." They also were instructed to place on banners they will display appeals for government aid for unemployed, pensions for aged working men and women, a reduction in freight rates, and nationalization of some basic industry, with consequent appropriation of work.

Citizens Apathetic, Dry Leader's Plaint

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Apathy of many citizens was blamed as a force preventing better operation of the prohibition law by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes in an address yesterday before delegates of the Anti-Saloon League convention. "Some seem to have the opinion," he said, "that the government is not serious, that the law is a joke and that people prefer a laugh to a law. It is a strange sense of humor, when we laugh at the constitution." Silence by "the great law-abiding and law-upholding majority of our people," he declared, was sometimes misinterpreted by newspaper men and public officials as either indifference or disapproval of the law.

Spanish Riots Are Dispersed by Police

MADRID, Dec. 5.—Details of Thursday's disturbances in Melilla in connection with a demonstration in favor of efforts to release Spanish prisoners indicate the trouble was momentary and not serious. A group of rioters proceeded to the native market, where they set tents and huts, throwing tables and liquor into the gutters and setting fire to clothing and materials. Later the demonstrators tried to prevent the departure of several steamships, stoning the vessels. Police dispersed the rioters and orders were then issued forbidding groups forming or parading.

SCORING SYSTEM FOR FOOD STORES OF CITY PLANNED

Inspector Would Rank All
According to Construction and Methods.

A departmental rule for the scoring of all places where foods are prepared for sale or sold will be installed in the city health office in the near future, according to City Food Inspector Harry B. Smith, who says that it does not need an ordinance but can be made effective by the head of the department.

The proposed scoring system is modeled after that of Berkeley. In Berkeley a perfect, though virtually unattainable score is 200, and any shop with a score of less than 50 has to go out of business.

In making a score of any food shop, 100 points are set aside for equipment and 100 for methods. For instance, 10 can be awarded for perfect construction, 20 for various kinds of plumbing, 15 for good ice boxes, 15 for a hot water plant, and so on.

For methods, 30 can be given for general cleanliness, 10 for clean ice boxes, 10 for condition of food, 10 for methods of storage, 15 for adequate garbage receptacles in the right place, and various minor scores for other points of perfection in method.

"Out of a possible 200," says Smith, "there is no reason why an average well conducted store should not reach 100 and possibly 175. There is no reason for any place to score less than 50. Such a place should be banned as a headquarters for the sale of foodstuffs."

SOUTH AMERICA TRADE IMPROVES

"Better conditions are in sight in South America and there is opportunity in every direction for business men and women in all Spanish-speaking countries," said T. S. Romero, Spanish instructor for the Extension Division, in the opening meeting of the class in Spanish held recently at 214 City Hall, Oakland.

Romero has conducted former Spanish classes, all of which have had large enrollments from persons interested in foreign trade relations. Though the course is primarily given for use in foreign trade, it is sufficiently extensive to meet the requirements of travel, literature and history.

"There are at least twenty Spanish-speaking countries," said Romero, "and international trade with Spanish-speaking countries amounts to three billion dollars annually."

Persons may join the class provided enrollments are made now or at the next class meeting, held tomorrow night. Elementary students meet at 7 p. m. and the intermediate group at 8 p. m. at 214 city hall. Classes are held every Tuesday and Thursday.

You Should Never "Rile" Your Liver

Don't prod a weak liver with harsh, harmful calomel. Mild, easy NR Tablets are better for biliousness.

NR Tonight—Tomorrow Feel Right

Predigesting an inactive liver with calomel and sluggish bowels with powerful purgatives is like lashing a tired horse to exhaustion. It can be done once too often and sooner or later, if persisted in, may so weaken the organs as to exhaust their reserve. Bilious attacks, constipation, sick headaches, etc., are in the great majority of cases due to digestive trouble and no reasonable person can expect to obtain real lasting benefit until the cause is corrected.

That many people realize this and are giving up the unwholesome practice of dosing themselves with dangerous calomel and irritating purgatives, is proved by the fact that more than five million boxes of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) were sold last year. Have you ever tried it? Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is a vegetable compound that acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, the purpose being to bring about healthy and harmonious action of all the organs of digestion and elimination.

TEFFT, IN FIGHT WITH YANCY, IS BADLY BEATEN

Berkeley Triangle Reaches a Climax in Physical Encounter.

Clinton Tefft, prominent Berkeley undertaker, was badly beaten in a fist fight with Lester A. Yancy, husband of Estelle Yancy, in front of Mrs. Yancy's cigar stand at 2986 Adeline street, Berkeley, early last evening.

The fight is the outcome of a triangular affair which was recently aired in the courts when Tefft sought to have Mrs. Yancy committed for insanity. The case was lost and Yancy, who came to the defense of his wife, publicly promised Tefft a beating, which he administered last night.

After the battle Tefft was removed to his home at 2901 Grove street, where he is being treated for a lacerated face and is consulting with his attorneys, unable to state a statement issued by his wife, Mrs. Lulu Mae Tefft, who was visiting relatives at Mount Vernon, Washington, during the period that Tefft is alleged to have been fighting Mrs. Yancy.

Yancy said that Tefft met him in front of the cigar stand and had his hand on his gun pocket. He was struck before he could draw. Tefft was shot in the arm by Mrs. Yancy on November 7, in his home. Yancy also intimated that he intended to have Tefft examined for insanity. The Yancys are living at 2927 Old street, Berkeley.

MAN, 66, BEATEN, ROBBED IN RUSE

Joseph Canitti, 66 years old, after being lured into Contra Costa county on Saturday by two unidentified men, by promises of a cheap farm, was beaten and robbed of more than $300, according to his story to the police today.

Canitti was picked up yesterday on the Contra Costa side of the state road by H. E. Chelton, 1049 Fifty-fourth street, and brought to the Emergency hospital, suffering from bruises and exposure.

Canitti is the owner of the Hetch Hetchy project. He arrived in San Francisco on Saturday with about $400, according to his story. In a resort in the North Beach section two men invited him to drink.

They told him he could purchase a farm cheap and made an appointment to take him to inspect the property. The men met him with an automobile, brought him to Oakland and took him over the Skyline boulevard.

After going through the tunnel, they turned upon him, beat him and took away his money. He was left unconscious by the road.

Gun-Carrying Lover Too Ardent, Is Jailed

WATSONVILLE, Dec. 5.—Joe Lima of Castroville is in the city jail tonight on a charge of carrying a deadly concealed weapon. The real inside facts are that Lima is too ardent a lover. According to Officer John Corr, who placed Lima under arrest last night, the man had been menacing Miss Jennie Butler of this city, who had refused to marry him, with the gun and she feared for her life, finally agreeing to a compromise against him.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

IRVIN S. COBB
What Aunt Myra Desired.

They brought a darky out of the jail in a North Carolina town with intent to hang him for murder. This was in the day when capital punishment was publicly inflicted. As a special mark of attention the widow of the murderer's victim was permitted to witness the event from a position of vantage directly facing the gallows. She had had a sort of small grandstand rigged up, and she had decorated it with bunting, and when the march to the scaffold started, there she sat in a white mother-hubbard wrapper gently agitating a palm-leaf fan, flanked and surrounded by relatives, invited friends and sister members of her lodge.

The preliminaries went forward according to the ritual. When the condemned had been properly trussed up, with the noose dangling about his neck, the sheriff, holding the black cap in his hand, edged up to him and said:

"Well, Jim, we're about ready. If you've got anything to say, I reckon this would be a mighty good time to say it."

"Yes, suh," said the doomed, "I has got sum'n to say. I jest wants to say dat I is fully repented fur what I done. I taken it to de Lawd in prayer an' I knows it's all right wid Him. I ast de jedge w'ich tried me and de prosecutin' attorney an' de foreman of de jury ef they bore me any gredge, w'ich, one and all, they said they did not. An' now I kin go right straight to Hebben an' nestle in de bosom of Father Abraham ef only I kin git de fergiveness of dat nigger lady sittin' yonder—de wife of de man I kill't."

He lifted his voice, addressing the white-clad figure in front of him:

"Lady," he entreated, "does you fergive me fur shootin' yore husband six times wid a fo'ty-to' caliber revolver?"

Excepting that her under lip jutted out a trifle farther, there was no sign she had heard him. She calmly fanned on. The darkey on the scaffold tried again:

"Lady," he pleaded, "for de secont time I axes you, ain't you, please ma'am, gwine fergive me?"

Still from her there was no response. It was as though she had not heard him. The sympathetic sheriff felt moved to add his intercession:

"Aunt Myra," he called, "Jim, here, will be goin' away from us in a minute and we don't expect him back. Surely you don't entertain any hard feelin's against him now? Won't you speak to him and let him go in peace?"

This time the obdurate widow shook her head in an emphatic negative. Yet still she uttered no sound. The sheriff turned to the condemned.

"Jim," he said, "you see how it is; that old woman is set in her ways. What's the use of wastin' any more time on her? Besides, it's hot as the devil out here and I ought to be gettin' on home to dinner. Just hold still a second and we can have this all over."

"Mr. Lucas," sobbed Jim, "lemme see ef I still can't soffen dat nigger woman's stony heart. Lady," he cried out, "wid mouty nigh my dyin' b'ref I begs you fur jest a word. I ain't hopin' no mo' dat you'll fergive me, but won't you please, ma'am, jest speak to me an' tell me what's in yore soul?"

And now she did speak. She motioned with her fan as though it had been a baton of authority, and in impatient tones she said:

"Go on, nigger, git hung—git hung!"

Flyers Flaunt Death at California Grays' Benefit

Death-defying stunts featuring aerial polo, sham battles, wing-walking and upside-down flying, were among the treats given the throngs which assembled yesterday afternoon at Durant field to witness the aerial fete for the benefit of the newly organized commandery of California Grays. The "function" was arranged to raise funds to outfit the Grays with uniforms.

A group of men who are willing to risk life and limb to give an exhibition of such consummate daring, is seldom seen. Included in the performers were Chet Clarke, field manager of the Durant concern; Franklin Rose, "a second Omar Locklear"; Cloyl Clevenger, Dick Donne and Lieutenant C. E. Pangborn.

One of the most thrilling of all of the thrills was the aerial polo contest. Although the idea of aerial polo was first originated by English flyers, the intrepid Americans have added to the game by stringing a net through the wings of their machine and attempting to capture a drifting balloon and bring it to the ground. Often during the game yesterday the four planes, driven by Clarke, Rose, Clevenger and Donne, plunged at the "ball" simultaneously, averting collisions by a hair's breadth. Great skill was needed, according to the field managers, to keep the balloon out of the propeller.

Rose, who has been acclaimed as the second Locklear, since the tragic death during the war, allowing his machine to drop in a headlong dive, practically to the ground. Smoke bombs were used to give a realistic effect, and, spouting smoke, the machine plunged downward as if it had been shot out of control, and was righted only a short distance from the ground.

Pangborn's stunts "which have caused him to be known as one of the most daring aviators in the west," consisted of flying for long periods upside down and with his machine comparatively close to the ground. He performed loops also while his machine was not more than 1000 feet above the earth.

The San Francisco company of the California Grays gave an exhibition drill during the afternoon. The Oakland company, in whose benefit the event was given, did not take part in the drills, since it was not informed. The committee in charge of the event of the day included Captain David Duncan, formerly of the San Francisco company, Adjutant General W. W. Wallace of the Oakland Commandery, Walter La Rue, Frank and C. W. Clark and Charles and W. MacMillan.

FAMILY QUARREL OVER PROPERTY LEADS TO DEATH

Outsider Is Slain During Row Between Brother and Sisters.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—A family quarrel between two sisters and a brother over the division of their mother's estate resulted early today in the death of an innocent bystander. Charles H. Hyde, 20-year-old dental student of 645 Cole street, was the victim. He, with a half-brother, John Sullivan, living at the same address, attended a party given by Miss Alice Hyde in her apartment at the Kohnwald. There were present also Hyde and Hazel Stack and George Hyde.

While music was being played and the guests were singing Walter W. Stack, a Southern Pacific brakeman, of 749 Taylor street, appeared, and is alleged to have begun a quarrel with Miss Hyde. Hyde resented his conduct and is alleged to have been struck down. As he rose to his feet he was again hit and fell to the floor unconscious.

After endeavoring in vain to revive him, the members of the party decided to take him to the Central Emergency hospital. All of the party were taken to the hospital. At Van Ness avenue and Bush street Stack jumped up from the car and ran. Hyde pursued him with a monkey wrench in his hands. Stack failed to stop and Hyde threw the wrench at him. He picked it up and went after Hyde, who in turn fled. Once again the wrench was thrown and Hyde gained possession of it. Stack, however, escaped.

Meantime Hennessy had been taken to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival. It is supposed that his skull was fractured. Detected Dolan and Conlon later arrested Stack at his home and booked him for manslaughter.

According to the story told by persons at the party, Stack had been feeling between Stack and his two sisters due to a division of their mother's estate. The girls received it, it is said, in some personal property which they then and there are said to have been bequeathed a valuable negotiable contract.

DEER SITUATION PUT UP TO NASH

The city of Oakland now owns four handsome deer that it does not want. This information was received today by Jay Nash, head of the veterinary department, who was notified that the municipal golf course at Lake Chabot has become the stamping ground of sharp-footed livestock which are voracious in their habits every night and cavort around the greens, incidentally stripping the young orchard on the land.

Work on the golf course is being delayed until the city finds what to do with the deer.

"Haven't you troubles enough at the city hall without this?" asks Nash. "The deer complicate the situation. We do not know what to do. We will not plant the grass on that golf course till we are sure the grass will not be stamped down and torn up. In the next few days we will have to study the deer situation thoroughly and try to eliminate the problem."

Nash is now thinking of traps, guns, rockets, cannon or anything else which can eliminate the problem quicker. The advice of the municipal rat catchers is being sought, but the latter only talk phobias, which, as Nash points out, is a waste of time.

Unless those deer get lost soon the city police department may be called upon to suppress the problem.

WOMAN DEMANDS BAN ON ROOSTER NEIGHBOR KEEPS

The roosters in the vicinity of 483 Thirty-sixth street may have to quit crowing between dawn and sunrise. Commissioner Frank Colburn, who recently suppressed the alleged tumult at the Union Ice Company's plant, where neighbors were kept awake all night, today was requested to put a ban on the roosters. The request came from Mrs. L. F. Jennings of that address. She says that not only are roosters kept at 479 Thirty-sixth, but No. 485 has also acquired a specially gamey voice. "If the ordinance were enforced which prohibits fowls within 20 feet of residences," says the complaint, "half the barnyards in back yards would be eliminated. Colburn sent a policeman to investigate."

Violinist, Pianist In Joint Recital

A large audience of regular subscribers to the series of artists' concerts and other music lovers in the Eastbay cities, will hear the joint recital of Misha Piatro, violinist, and Alfred Mirovitch, pianist, at the auditorium theater tonight.

Their appearance will mark the second of the artists' concerts under the direction of Mrs. Z. W. Potter, president of the Oakland Teachers' Association.

Both Piatro and Mirovitch are Russians. Both were graduated from the Petrograd Conservatory of Music. Piatro is a violinist and both sprang from a musical line. They did not appear in joint recitals until their arrival in America.

Auto Halts Trains; Driver Drunk, Claim

Durston Ducehni, who, according to James Finnerty, State railroad policeman, tied up four main line trains when his automobile stalled on the tracks at the foot of Seventh street this morning was charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. The warrant was sworn to by Finnerty.

RANCH IN SOUTH SWEEP BY BLAZE; 250 FIGHT FIRE

Flames, Fanned by Gale, Get Beyond Control; Loss Is Set At $100,000.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—Sweeping over 30 miles of ranch and timber lands, what was declared to be one of the most serious forest fires in Southern California in years was raging this morning in the Malibu section of the Santa Monica mountains, northwest of here, according to reports to the sheriff's office. A force of 50 men was dispatched to the scene, while about 100 more made ready to leave at once.

The blaze was at first noticed Friday morning at the Cordial Canyon camp, situated on the Malibu ranch. Employees of the ranch fought desperately to stem the rush of the flames, but, due to a high wind which prevailed Saturday, the fire got beyond control and it was necessary last night to appeal for outside aid. Reports to the sheriff's office stated, while none of the main buildings of the Malibu ranch had suffered up to this morning from the flames, it was said that the homes of several settlers in the vicinity were destroyed and a large amount of cattle feed was burned.

It was thought the damage would total close to $100,000. Employees of the ranch declared this morning that the fire was of incendiary origin. They said they had been combating the flames but a short time in the Cordial canyon district when they noticed smoke issuing from the Escudido canyon, across a mountain ridge from Cordial canyon. The men said they believed the flames could not have leaped over the ridge.

Care in Christmas Mailing Is Urged

Co-operation, through early mailing and through proper handling of the packages is urged by Postmaster Joseph J. Rosborough, in order to avoid congestion of the Christmas mail.

Rosborough, following receipt of an order from Postmaster Hays concerning the necessity of co-operation at this time, is delivering an appeal through the schools for the public to do everything possible to expedite the work of handling the Christmas mail.

Teachers in all of the grade schools began today to give special instructions to the students with requests that they communicate the instructions to their parents. These instructions include advice to mail packages this week, if possible, with the suggestion that "Do not open until Christmas" be placed on the packages. They should be well packed and tied, and addressed plainly with pen and ink or typewriter. Mail receptacles should be provided at each home and the street number be given in full. Packages must be correct, with return address in upper left hand corner. Names of states should not be abbreviated. Exact amount of postage should be put on parcels. Avoid using cards or envelopes of the unusual size or shape. Small Christmas card envelopes cause delay in deciphering addresses and do not fit mailing machines. Mail letters and packages early in the day.

Piedmont Asks Haste On Sewer Project

Following the favorable vote for $55,000 bond issue by the people of Piedmont, City Clerk W. C. Little today formally notified the Oakland street department that Piedmont is now ready to begin construction of the sewer line to be run from the city into the lake. Mr. Little also notified the city of Oakland and awaits Oakland suggestions.

"Piedmont desires to co-operate with Oakland," Mr. Little said. "We are now prepared to go ahead at any time. We would like to be advised when to start construction."

Commissioner Bacous asserted that he will take immediate steps toward forming the assessment district in Oakland for the co-operative pipe line which will run down the Grand avenue and Lakeshore district. He expects the cost will be about $50,000 to $60,000, of which half will come from the assessment district and half from the city treasury.

Mullaly, Herbert Bosworth, Mary Morgan and Thomas Crystal.

Rehearing Denied By Supreme Court

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—A rehearing was denied by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today on the cancellation of patents to 4200 acres of land in the Susanville, Cal., district, held by Edward L. Cooksey and others. The land is valued at $250,000.

The lower court had found that the patents had been obtained fraudulently.

According to the police, they are alleged to have stolen the automobile of C. F. Toons, 2238 Telegraph avenue, on the evening of November 20, from a garage at Thirty-fourth and Telegraph avenue.

Two Boys Jailed; Burglary Charged

George Lynch and Earl Rice, alleged members of a gang which, the police say, has committed small burglaries in Berkeley, were arrested last night at their homes in connection with the burglary of the home of Charles Haynes, 1075 Alcatraz avenue, Berkeley. Lynch lives at 6329 Essex street and Rice at 1058 Sixty-fifth street.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 5.

The grass on the hills is green and the cows eat high. In 1792 Johann Wolfgang Theophilus Mozart was born. It is not stated whether he was born with all of that name or whether he acquired it after a consultation of relatives. It was on this day in 1782 that Martin Van Buren, eighth president of the United States, was born. General George A. Custer, whose whole command was massacred by Sioux Indians, was born in 1839. In 1872 Harry W. Pillsbury, chess champion in 1895, was born.

The hour was getting late. "Well," said one of the head players, "let's put the game in the curriculum and go home."

It used to be that well-intentioned persons were working as to the number of calories concealed in one's breakfast. We have known persons who figured their food tables like baseball percentages and who ate to a system of mathematics that would put a well-greased steamer in a state of more than eight a glimmer of the thing, when somebody came along with vitamins and our poor calories went out of style. For months we have been eating to see how many of the innocent vitamins we could destroy, assimilate, or disarrange. We have been willing to overlook sand in the sugar, ground cork in the coffee, and the tears that lie in onions if only the vitamins were there. The vitamins, we were told, is the thing that takes the wrinkles out of the cheek and the spring in the step. Now comes Dr. Pirquet of Vienna who says that nems are the thing. The way to reckon food values, says this Pirquet, is by the nems and that a nem represents the food value of one cubic centimeter of milk. We have checked all the ledgers containing our statistics regarding calories and vitamins and have shoved the adding machine over to the desk on which our new calculations are to be made. Some day, when we get real bold, we are going to lead the calory, the vitamin, and the nem to the front door and point out to them the way of their departure. Then we will order corn beef and cabbage.

And yet, we cannot help but wonder how many nems there are in corn beef and cabbage.

THE CONFERENCE GOES WELL.

At the end of its third week of work the disarmament conference, according to announcement, has reached an agreement for a holiday in naval construction and for reduction and limitation of naval establishments. The Hughes' proposal is the basis for this agreement.

The government of Japan, and possibly other governments, may not ratify the understandings the conference has arrived at or will subsequently reach. But so far as the conference itself is concerned, it has given a good account of itself.

Three weeks is a comparatively short period for the accomplishment of any substantial thing by an international convocation of this character. There is sound cause for encouragement in the agreements thus far recorded.

For awhile it looked as if the Japanese delegation was standing against progress on the naval plan. But the assumption of THE TRIBUNE that it was mainly desirous of trading a seeming surrender on this point for a coveted advantage elsewhere appears to be correct. It has not yet been disclosed what Japan is after, but that will come out later and apparently the other governments will be on guard.

With agreement on the navy question, with open acceptance of several principles of vital importance in the China situation, and with noteworthy progress in the consideration of other problems of the Pacific, the disarmament conference makes a new demand for popular confidence and support. It has not failed at any point so far.

And at this time it is proper to recall our duty to rely upon the government at Washington to adequately protect the present and future welfare of the nation.

Some individuals and newspapers are working against the success of the conference by trying to destroy faith in it and in the rectitude and wisdom of the American government. They are in the main to be found among those interests that stood against America and the Allies in the recent war, and who have been either openly or secretly promoting Bolshevism ever since. It is to be observed that in addition to the politicians and political agents, turned correspondents for the occasion, who do not find things going to suit them there is a London police inspector who says France is attempting to master the world through Poland.

If it all were not so tragic and a bit dangerous, it would be pathetic and amusing—this impetuous egoism of the little men whom no country has ever trusted with important place now bewailing the failures conceived in their own ignorance and evil designing and charged to the high and able representatives of the government at Washington.

Anticipating favorable action by Tokyo upon the action of its delegates in agreeing to the naval program, the conference goes well. It is bringing great nations into open, binding and self-enforcing agreements regarding matters that disturb and threaten world peace.

OAKLAND'S WILD DUCKS.

What started as a sentimental fancy has developed into a feature of very large advertising benefit for the city of Oakland. It should be improved and given added emphasis.

When wild ducks first began to use Lake Merritt as a refuge from the ubiquitous hunter someone thought it would be the right thing to provide food for the refugees. Now the money for the feeding of the ducks is among the regular annual appropriations of the city and the practice of holding an annual festival to attract attention to the feathered guests is being observed. The ducks being willing, this celebration should become permanent.

It is useful merely to arouse civic interest by centering popular interest on any pleasing feature. But in connection with the wild ducks of Lake Merritt there is a more substantial result: There is no record of any other city in the world maintaining within its corporate limits a home for migratory wild fowl. There is no other city with so large a body of salt water entirely surrounded by land as Lake Merritt.

Hence the wild duck festival is heralded to all quarters of the earth and frequently carries the name of Oakland far beyond the ordinary couriers of commerce and trade. Not long ago an illustrated French magazine carried a double-page picture of the Lake Merritt ducks.

Next month the Oakland recreation department and the public schools will make Duck Day notable by staging a pageant on the shores of Lake Merritt. Civic organizations would do well to cooperate in this event in any appropriate manner which may be suggested. Big things are possible in making Oakland more widely known. The annual wild duck festival, being unique, original and not susceptible of imitation, should be made as effective as any tournament of roses or mardi gras circus.

EDUCATION WEEK.

By proclamation of the President of the United States the current week is being dedicated throughout the country to the study and the dissemination of information regarding the condition of our educational system and its problems. It is designed to concentrate attention upon some of the more conspicuous deficiencies in the educational machinery now in operation, the methods it pursues and the opportunities for greater service.

Officials of schools systems, teachers and others with a direct and sustained interest in education will find many ways of conforming to the spirit of the President's proclamation. They will, we may safely conclude, be proper and effective ways.

But it seems to THE TRIBUNE the greatest possible good would result from a week of intensive study and examination of duties on the part of the parents of children for whom the public schools are maintained. The public school system will be very largely just what the people permit it to be. If it is to be of the greatest possible good the parents must know more about it and be able to demonstrate an intelligent determination to keep the school system at the highest state of efficiency.

There is always some scheme to change the schools. Very rarely does the suggestion come from the parents, from the ranks of the citizenship maintaining the schools. It comes from the outside—from the politicians who would exploit the schools and from the teaching system.

Just at present there is a political scheme on foot to take the control of the school board of Oakland away from the people and lodge it with political officials of the municipal government. Parents might very well make the study of this scheme a part of their program during the current week. It is to be found in the proposed charter for the division of Alameda county and the establishment of a separate city and county of Oakland. Then the parents should maintain a working knowledge of the character and the tactics of members of the school board.

When there are members and cliques of members who use their positions for political purposes, to reward political henchmen, the parents should be prepared to dismiss those members from office at the first opportunity.

There are two main points which seem of first importance: that the people retain control over the administrative body of the school system, and second, that they know how to exercise that control wisely at the right time.

There are many other phases of education which the people should study as opportunity offers. Progress of the right kind cannot be achieved if the work of improvement is left wholly to the professional and political factors of the system.

The study of the education matters is the duty of the parents and the taxpayers. It is for them education week holds the largest potential benefit. They are maintaining a large and expensive machinery for the building of good citizenship out of the children of today. Surely they should know that machinery, its opportunities and the means of competent control.

AN ALASKAN DAWN.

If the government railroad to the Alaskan interior is to prove itself and to justify the enormous engineering and the expenditure of $50,000,000, the northern empire should be now at the threshold of a brighter and more prosperous development. The road for almost 500 miles, through a virgin country and rich, and with the laying of its last rail, is checked a moment more epochal than any gold discovery.

Lack of transportation has always been the retarding influence in Alaskan development. Now there is provided a means of rapid transit from Seward to Fairbanks. It would seem that the advantage so conferred is a challenge not only to the enterprise of residents of Alaska, but to investing capital throughout America and to all men who wish to meet fortune on her own field. The hardships of the sordid are traditional and are no longer to be feared.

For that matter, as any Alaskan will tell you, the country has been much maligned. It is twelve times the size of New York and yet three-quarters of its area is within the north temperate zone. Along the coastal districts its climate is comparable to that of Scotland, while inland it has been likened to Manitoba and Alberta, to Norway, Sweden and Finland. It has distinct agricultural possibilities, and for some time the city of Fairbanks has been bread from its own grain. Yet it is doubtful if, for many years, the coming of agricultural development of Alaska will more than meet the needs of its own people. The coming of transportation portends a different industrial awakening, or should.

The interior is prodigally rich in minerals, timber and furs, and the opening of the government railroad should serve as an impetus to the immediate and continued development of the first two resources. Mining is not what it was in the days of the gold rush. The easy money of the digger is not to be had. Yet because of lack of transportation there has remained for more than two decades since discovery a vast and untouched mineral wealth, requiring modern rail facilities to permit development. These mines with their attendant industries should speedily enter production. And all this wealth, this mining property is not founded upon gleaming and rich ore, but on the volume and steady output of large mining operations in comparatively lean fields.—Portland Oregonian.

NOTES and COMMENT

The Dispatch tells how they do in Pittsburgh: "In the olden days our mothers ground coffee for the household by hand. We long since have outgrown that era. Today we touch a button and electricity does the rest. However, here in Pittsburgh when we wish to talk over the telephone we must twist a crank much the same as our mothers did to grind the coffee, and somewhere from the coffee-mill the voice of central is heard. Other cities merely lift the receiver from the hook."

The Stockton Record, nags us thus: "The head of the Oakland recreation department, having put in deep thought on the subject of summer camps in the mountains and their need, has drawn up a set of plans and specifications for two, versatile horses, which he considers necessary to expediting the work preparatory to opening camp next summer above Groveland on the Big Oak Flat road."

Once again—and still in the same key—the Woodland Democrat: "President Harding wants peace, we are quite sure, but he has gone a long way around to get it, and it has taken him and his supporters an unconscionably long time to realize that we can't have peace all by ourselves, but that we have got to join with other nations in order to prevent their drawing us into war."

The Medford Mall Tribune takes account of the pluvial dispensation: "A copious rain is falling over the valley. Its course is straight down, and it is exceptionally wet for this time of the year. It will enable the farmers to till the soil most satisfactorily, and enable what the soles of curately determine what the holes of their high-priced shoes are made of."

Biblical outburst from the Dixon Tribune: "Proverbs: Who hath we? Who hath sorrow? Who hath contentions? Who hath babbling? Who hath wounds without cause? Who hath redness of eyes? They that tarry long at home now, they that go to seek the wild jackass, that they lie down with the bootlegger!"

Home-grown joke from the Hanford Sentinel: "The Los Angeles claim to all California as 'southern' is like the small boy on the ferry boat between Oakland and San Francisco who asked the Irishman what city Goat Island was in. 'I don't know,' said Pat. 'I'll get a good look at the goats.'"

From the Sacramento Union, and you would never find such an item in a Los Angeles paper: "We doubt if any night in 1849 or 1850 could equal Wednesday night's record of the $80,000 robbery of a gold mine, three daring holdups within the city limits, the capture of a street-car bandit and the arrest of four suspected roadhouse highwaymen."

The Richmond Record-Herald states its chief: "A. Professor Metchnikoff states that with careful diet and its by-products as the chief article of diet, one can easily live to be 200 years of age. We'd sooner die than live 200 years on curds and whey, cottage cheese and clabber."

The Sacramento Bee is to have its own correspondent at Washington in Leo A. McClatchy, bearer of a name justly honored in journalism, and of dubious having an inflated aptitude at nosing out news and writing it.—Chico Enterprise.

From the Bakersfield Californian, and it doesn't determine whether the editor is wet or dry: "The prohibition party will not disband, according to word given out by the executive committee of the party. We should say not, not while we are as far from prohibition as all the evidence indicates."

Awful suggestion from the Hanford Sentinel: "A San Francisco merchant says that it doesn't make much difference whether a girl bobs her hair if she can render service. All right, girls, now is the time to stand on your heads and mop 'em up!"

From the Chico Enterprise, but lacking in footnotes: "Now that the teachers have their tenure of office law they are ashamed of the darn thing and no one admits sponsorship. Begins to look as if it were a private family affair."

A San Diego paper attempted to report that a young woman of that city was "knocked out by thugs." But the discerning compositor made it read, "knocked out by bugs," and she indignantly denies it.

The Red Bluff News foresees embarrassment: "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse is coming to Red Bluff. It's embarrassing. There is no barn to put the horses in."

Idea from the Marysville Appeal: "Foch has been given so much chicken to eat that he is tired of it. Perhaps his honest think that it is to help him to crow over Germany."

The Oroville Register is authority for the news that Ben S. Allen, former publisher of the Sacramento Times, has acquired the Berkeley Times, and will make it a morning paper.

THE THINKER

There's a fortune in store for the man who can think
And glory to crown his endeavor:

THE NEWEST REPUBLIC

Coffee made for culture, bananas for world neighborliness, and volcanoes fertilized the soil for the new Republic of Central America. Such generalizations leave many facts untold, but this one provides a dependable handle for essential factors in the development of the three states, Guatemala, Honduras and El Salvador, which now make up the newest American republic, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"This new nation has an area approximately that of Colorado and a population greater than that of Massachusetts. Its mapped outline resembles nothing so much as a sleigh, with the runnels on the Pacific ocean and British Honduras perched in the driver's seat. Its surface conformation may be compared to an A tent, with one side sloping much more gradually than the other, and this longer side sagging and almost touching ground toward its edge.

"One's geography gets twisted in thinking of Central America as being to the south of us; which is well enough, if it be remembered that an east and west line running through the new republic could touch Nicaragua and Mexico at the ends and that going to the Atlantic to the Pacific means a trip due south.

"The ridge pole of the Guatemala Andes, as the Central American cordillera sometimes is called, lies much closer to the Pacific than to the Atlantic. Along this range volcanoes go sky rocketing with disconcerting frequency. They wipe out cities, at times, as when Guatemala's capital was all but destroyed five years ago, and San Salvador has won the nickname of the swinging ham."

Yet volcanoes are the friends of these states. They are veritable gushers of elements which, entering into the soil, have made the vegetation luxuriant.

"The sagging side of our tent slopes gently toward the Atlantic. Toward its edge are the lowlands which Cortes naively described as 'covered with awfully firm swamps.' Scattered tribes of primitive Indians and refugee negroes from the West Indies once eked out an isolated existence here. Now the region is blanketed with banana fields. This crop has found the Caribbean side of Guatemala, and Honduras to the United States by these invisible but enduring lies, steamship lines.

"The nickname 'Guatemala Andes' does not indicate that these mountains are a continuation of the South American Andes, nor are they the southern foothills of the Rocky Mountains. It has been pointed out that should the major continental ranges be extended in their normal directions they would pass each other, in the latitude of Guatemala, some 2000 miles apart.

"What sugar was to Cuba during the second decade of the twentieth century, coffee was to Guatemala and Salvador during the last decade of the nineteenth. The breakfast beverage of millions of Americans helped erect magnificent public buildings in Guatemala City and San Salvador, and placed pianos, phonographs, and other luxuries in many a Central American home. It likewise sent a suddenly increased number of Latin Americans to colleges and universities of the United States to return better equipped for leadership in those political and civic ideals which their countrymen already were trying to follow.

"The constitution of Honduras does not regard the ballot as a privilege, but makes voting compulsory upon the male citizen who can read and write. If married he must begin voting at 18; if unmarried at 21. The death penalty has been abolished.

"Salvador's coast is wholly on the Pacific side of the Isthmus. Guatemala, Honduras and El Salvador turned their faces toward the Pacific, until the advent of the banana crop on their northern plains. This simple fact has had far reaching historical consequences. Spain's colonial rule lasted until the first part of the nineteenth century. After a short period of independent freedom the five Central American states, Guatemala, Honduras, Salvador, Nicaragua and Costa Rica formed the Republic of the United States of Central America, which dissolved and gave way to a series of unions, interventions, occasional revolutions, all of which constitute an evolution. Governmentally, as well as geographically, Central America has faced about toward the Atlantic. Its transition stages were difficult because it lacked previous experience in republican forms of government, and because of mixed races, for mulattoes abounded in Honduras and the Indians were strong numerically in Guatemala. Salvador, like Costa Rica, has experienced less discord because her people were more homogeneous.

"Honduras sends to the United States many 'banana hats' while the so-called 'balsam of Peru' is not produced at all in South America, but

about YOUR HEALTH

Just How Much Climate May Mean to Your Health.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., Commissioner of Health, New York City.

There is more "humbuggery" about "climate" than about almost any other subject discussed by doctors and laymen.

Suppose it were possible to place your home and business on flat oak and to carry them bodily from their present location. Suppose you moved with them from some severe northern climate to the balmy south. Suppose after reaching your new community you went on with your daily program in exactly the same way you did before the migration.

Would this change of climate change the state of your health? I do not believe it would.

There can be no doubt that certain climates are more favorable to the cure of some diseases than others. For instance, it is certainly more comfortable, in the beginning of a winter cure for tuberculosis, to live out-of-doors in Arizona or California than it is in Massachusetts or northern New York. So far as my own personal preference is concerned, I would rather take such a cure in the semi-tropics than in a rigorous climate.

But it isn't the climate which brings the cure. It is the out-of-door life, the fresh air, the freedom of the open. All the chemical and physical properties of "climate" are as much to be found in one place as in another. It isn't the climate you need consider, but rather the use you make of the climate.

If you are in such a state of health that another climate is being talked about in your household you probably need a change. The doctor may be taking his tactful way of getting you away from distracting and discordant surroundings. The same favorable effect a change of climate will accomplish may be effected by cording away for a long visit the shrewish wife or the fault-finding husband of the patient!

There are diseases—such as malnutrition, anemia and tuberculosis—which demand out-of-door living. It would be a calamity if a geographical change of climate were the only hope of cure. If it were, tens of thousands of poor sufferers would have to die, because for them you might as well prescribe diamonds set in platinum. They haven't money enough to stay in a home, to say nothing of a long and expensive journey to some other climate.

There is hardly a home in the world that has not in it the possibility of out-of-door living. There is a porch which may be protected from cold winds by an awning or curtain. There is a flat roof where a tent can be pitched. If nothing else offers, the fire escape can be utilized. A platform for a tent can be built in the wide branches of a tree. The back part of a building can be transformed into a splendid sleeping porch or even an all-time living "shack."

An unhappy mother told me about her consumptive daughter, and of her inability to send her and to maintain her in a distant place which had been recommended by friends. The father was a carpenter. I suggested that a little room be built on the roof of their house, which seemed suitable for such a purpose. The family jumped at the idea, and at less than the cost of the proposed climate, an attractive sun-parlor was built atop their home.

On all sides it had big windows—bought second-hand—and was warmed when necessary during dreary hours by a little electric stove, the wire for which was brought up the ladder-like stairs. Here the daughter lived with her books, her father work—and here she was cured in her native climate.

PRICES WILL FALL LOWER, IS PROPHECY

Downward Trend for Twenty-Five Years, Warning Given to Merchants; Advertising Expert Offers Suggestion

How to advertise with the most advantageous results was told the members of the Oakland Advertising Club at the weekly luncheon in the Hotel Oakland this afternoon by Charles Henry Mackintosh, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, who was the speaker of the day.

The manufacturer who wants to make his business promotion methods and particularly to advertising to create demand, Mackintosh said. He took the stand that the method used by some manufacturers who are content to rely on jobbers and merchandise brokers for their outlet are not conducive to rapid growth. "The manufacturer who puts his faith in the merchandise broker and other distributors of that class in his effort to grow will not soon reach his goal in that manner," said Mackintosh. "Merchandise brokers are not doubling the capacity of anybody's mills. The merchandise broker has twenty or thirty firms on his list and after he has consumed the capacity of one manufacturer he does not beg that man to double his plant."

DOUBLING A PLANT.
 "The only way to double a plant is to double the demand. Take the case of a manufacturer of brushes who has never advertised. Finally some alert advertising agent goes to the point where he is sold on the idea of a national advertising campaign. The agent tells him, 'Trade-mark one of your brushes and sell it nationally.' Concentrate the demand on your particular brush."
 "The first job is to pick the brush. Let us take the brush right now, the tooth brush. Of all brushes, it has an absolutely potential demand. Everybody ought to use a tooth brush. Besides, it is so cheap. You want to sell everybody in the world and here you have the widest possible potential demand coupled with a low priced article."

MERCHANTS WARNED.
 "What shall we do? Advertising today begins with the product because we recognize that no article is worth advertising or selling that would not sell itself if it had full facts about it were thoroughly understood. That is a sweeping statement, but you will find it true on analysis. The most that advertising and selling can do is to make the full facts thoroughly understood."
 Prior to the meeting Mackintosh announced that the merchants and manufacturers must prepare for 25 years of descending prices—25 years in which business will prosper despite the change in price.
 The advertising club head said that merchants throughout the nation were not equipped to handle the business of the falling market plan and that he had been sent out to visit every large city in the nation to instruct dealers in selling methods under the new regime. Co-operation between the merchant and the advertising man is the secret of success, according to Mackintosh.

NO BUYERS' STRIKE.
 "On almost every occasion where merchants congregate you hear the statement that there is a 'buyers' strike,' said Mackintosh. 'Such a thing does not exist. Merchants who were used to buying on a rising market have suddenly found that all of their plans have gone wrong. The market is falling now and will fall for 25 years. If they repeat itself. Merchants are not prepared to do business under these conditions and consequently they blame their loss of trade to hard times.'"

"War accelerates prices and when they reach their peak they topple over just as they are doing now. The same thing happened in 1912 and in 1914. History always repeats. Prices go up for a long period, then they go down for an equally long period. The answer is advertising along intelligent lines and co-operation between the merchant and the advertising man."

Charlie Carries Handy 'Prop' Grin To New York and Uses It Overtime

This is the second installment of Charlie Chaplin's own story of his recent trip to Europe. In the first installment he described his experiences in Los Angeles and during a stopover in Chicago on his hurried journey across the continent.

A wretched sleep on train. More solitary, meals at scheduled time and then we hit New York.

Crowds. Reporters. Photographers. And Douglas Fairbanks. Good old "Doug." He did his best but "Doug" has never had a picture yet where he had to buck news photographers. They snapped me in every posture anatomically possible. Two of them battled with my carcass in argument over my facing east or west.

Neither won. But I lost. My body couldn't be split. But my clothes could—and were. But "Doug" put in a good lick and got me into an automobile.

Panting, I lay back against the cushions. I could hear him talking to me. It reminded me of a football coach handing it to the team that's behind, between the halves. I felt very much the disheveled team.

But it was not coachy. He was telling me that Mary was not feeling well and therefore couldn't come to meet me. I had missed her but was glad that she had not witnessed my debacle in the camera campaign.

To the Ritz went "Doug" and I.
 To the Ritz went the crowd.
 Or at least I thought so, for there was a crowd there and it looked like the same one. I almost imagined I saw familiar faces. Certainly I saw cameras. But this time our charge was most successful. With a guard of porters as shock troops we negotiated the distance between the curb and the lobby without the loss of a single button.

I felt rather smart and relieved. But as usual I was too previous. We ascended to the suite. There they were. The gentlemen of the press. And one lady of the press.

"Mr. Chaplin, why are you going to Europe?"
 "For a vacation."
 "What do you do with your old mustaches?"
 "Throw them away."
 "Do you ever expect to get married?"
 "Yes."
 "What's her name?"
 "I don't know."
 "Are you a bolshevik?"
 "I am an artist. I am interested in life. Bolshevism is a new phrase of life. I must be interested in it."

"Do you want to play Hamlet?"
 "Why, I don't know."

Again lady luck flew to my side. I was called to the telephone. I answered the one in my bedroom. And closed the door. And kept it closed. The press departed. I felt like a wronged dishrag. I looked into the mirror. I saw Cheshire cat grinning back at me. I was still carrying the "prop" grin that I had invented for interviews. I wondered if it would be easier to hold it all the time rather than chase it into play at the sight of reporters.

But some one might accuse me of imitating "Doug." So I let the old face slip back to normalcy.

"Doug" came. Mary was better. She was with him. It was good to see her. The three of us went to the roof to be photographed. We were. In every conceivable pose. Until some one suggested that "Doug" hang over the edge of the roof holding Mary in one hand and me in the other. Pretty little thought. But that's as far as it got. I beat "Doug" to the refusal by a hair.

It's great to have friends like "Doug" and Mary. They understood me perfectly. They knew what the seven years' grind had meant to my nerves. They knew just how badly I needed this vacation. How I needed to get away from studios and pictures. How I needed to get away from myself.

"Doug" had thought it all out and had planned that while I was in New York my vacation should be perfect. He would see that things were kept pleasant for me.

So he insisted that I go and see the dress rehearsal of his new picture, "The Three Musketeers."

I was nettled. I didn't want to see pictures. But I was polite. I did not refuse, though I did try to evade.

Charlie and His "Find"

CHARLIE CHAPLIN and his screen discovery, "The Kid," JACKIE COOGAN, whom the great comedian made famous overnight.

It was useless. Very seriously he wanted me to see the picture and give my honest opinion. He wanted my criticism. My suggestions. I had to do it. I always do. I saw the picture in jerks.

Reporters were there. Their attendance was no secret. "Mr. Chaplin, why are you going to Europe?"
 "For a vacation."
 "Have you your old shoes and canes with you?"
 "No."
 "Do you want to play Hamlet?"
 "I want to see 'The Three Musketeers.'"

They left, feeling not so very pleased. Next day I noticed in one of the papers, "Mr. Chaplin was too puffed up to talk for the public."

The picture over, I suggested a few changes and several cuts which I thought would improve it.

I always do.
 They listened politely and then let the picture ride the way it was. They always do.

Fortunately the changes I suggested were not made and the picture is a tremendous success.

But I still have status as a critic. I am invited to a showing of Mary's picture, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," and asked for suggestions. They know that I'll criticize. I always do and they are afraid of me. Though when they look at my pictures they are always kind and sympathetic and never criticize.

I told Mary her picture was too long. I told her where to cut it. Which, of course, she doesn't do. She never does.

She and "Doug" listened politely and the picture stands. It always does.

Newspaper men are at the hotel. I go through the same barrage of questions. My "prop" grin does duty for fifteen minutes. I escape.

Douglas phones me. He wants to be nice to me. I am on my vacation and he wants it to be a veryplesantone.

So he invites me to see "The Three Musketeers" again. This time at its first showing before the public.

Another reporter for a two-minute interview. He told me that if I answered as fast as he asked questions we could do fifteen questions in two minutes. His approach was different. For a moment he had me.

"What about the Irish question?"

"I think the only answer is to give England home rule."
 "Why are you going to Europe?"
 "Just a minute."

I went to bed. This is a good stunt. I will work it oftener.

Before the opening of "Doug's" picture we were to have dinner together. Mary and "Doug," Mrs. Conde Nast and I.

I feel very embarrassed at meeting Mrs. Nast again. Somewhere there lurks in my memory a broken dinner engagement. It worried me, as I had not even written. It was so foolish not to write. I would be met probably with an "all-is-forgotten" look.

I decided that my best defense is to act vague and not speak of it. I do so and get away with it. And she has the good taste not to mention it, so a pleasant time is had by all.

We go to the theater in Mrs. Nast's beautiful limousine. The crowds were gathered for several blocks on every side of the theater.

I felt proud that I was in the movies. Though on this night with Douglas and Mary I feel that I am trailing in their glory. It is their night.

There are cheers. For Mary. For "Doug." For me. Again I feel proud that I am in the movies. I try to look dignified. I coax up the "prop" smile and put into it real pleasure. It is a real smile. It feels good and natural.

We get out of the car and the crowds swarm. Most of the "all-American" selections were there. "Doug" takes Mary under his wing and plows through just as though he were doing a scene and the crowd were extras.

I take my cue from him. I take Mrs. Nast's arm. At least I tried to take it, but she seemed to sort of drift away from me down toward Eighth avenue, while I, for no apparent reason, backed toward the entrance of the theater. I was not feeling as proud as I had been. I was still smiling at the dear public, but it had gone back to the "prop" smile.

I realized this and tried to put real pleasure into the smile again. As the grin broadened it opened new space in the jam and a policeman parked his fist in it.

I don't like the taste of policemen's fists. I told him so in a gargle. He glared at me and pushed me for a "first down." My hat flew toward the heavens. It has never returned to me.

I felt a draft. I heard machinery. I looked down. A woman with a pair of scissors was snipping a piece from the seat of my trousers. Another grabbed my tie and almost put an end to my suffering through strangulation. My collar was next. But they only got half of that.

My shirt was pulled out. The buttons torn from my vest. My feet tramped on, my face scratched. But I still retained the smile, "prop" one though it was. Whenever I could think of it I tried to raise it above the level of a "prop" smile and was always rewarded with a policeman's fist. I kept insisting that I was "Charlie Chaplin" and that I belonged inside. It was absolutely necessary that I see the "Three Musketeers."

Insistence won. As though on a pre-arranged signal I felt myself lifted from my feet, my body inverted until my head pointed toward the center of the lobby and my feet toward an electric sign advertising the Ziegfeld roof. Then there was a surge and I moved forward right over the heads of the crowd through the lobby. I tried to use my legs as a rudder and steer a course dead center, but every once in a while they would get tangled in some one's neck and my course wavered. But I negotiated it and with speed.

As I went through the door, not knowing into what, I saw a friend. With the "prop" smile still waving, I lunged back, "See you later," and head first I entered the theater and came to a heap at the foot of a be-diamonded dowager.

I looked up, still carrying the "prop" smile, but my efforts fell flat. There was no applause in the look she gave me.

SHUT BRIDGE HOUR CHANGE PLAN VETOED

Proposal to Aid Navigation at Webster Street During the Rush Hours Is Opposed by the Board of Supervisors

The Board of Supervisors went on record today as opposing any change in attitude regarding hours during which the Webster street bridge shall remain closed to navigation.

The matter was brought up through receipt of a letter from J. P. Potter, superintendent of transportation for the Key Route System, in which it was pointed out that the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe has held a protest with the War Department regarding the closing of the bridge. Potter urged that opening the bridge to allow the railroad company to operate its barges during the rush hours would so tie up traffic as to inconvenience thousands of commuters. The supervisors expressed themselves as satisfied that the closed hours at present in vogue, 7:15 in the morning and 4:30 to 7:15 in the evening should remain in force.

The report of Coroner Grant D. Miller for the month of October, which showed a total of 34 cases was filed. Of the deaths dealt with in the report 32 were from natural causes and 2 from accident or suicide.

Final payment of $1000 was made to Bates & Borland, contractors, on the Mt. Eden road pavement contract.

The Niles Victory Motors are now the sole occupants of first place in the California Class B race, as a result of their overwhelming victory over the Delphi Club, by a score of 19 to 2. The Hayward Natives were supplanted a neat surprise by the Oakland Scots, which put them in a dead heat with the Delphi Club and the Merchants for second place. A few weeks ago there was a triple tie for third place between the Delphi Club, the Natives and Avenue Merchants, but two weeks ago the Merchants dropped out of the contest, leaving the Delphi Club awarded a trimming by the Natives. Now comes the Oakland Scots, a second time tested team, who have won a pennant hop of the Natives by giving them a beating. Manager Williams and Captain Heller are proud of the victory, and the Delphi Club will season the Motor team was figured generously as a "dark horse," but they are no claimer claiming title to first place.

The Motor boys used their wits to road advantage and elicited all the offerings of Picard and Farvin in the matter of new tires. They had plenty of VSR made in all, five of them

By MAURY PESSANO.

Bill Crosby, leader of the Oakland Natives No. 50, sent his boys against the Melrose Merchants at Melrose. The Merchants finished on the road end of 4 to 4 score. The Native won the contest in the first two runs. When they scored all of the runs. Dick Arlett did the mound duty for the Merchants, while Bill Crosby started Game Number One.

Gene pitched a good battle for the first three innings, holding the hard-hitting Merchants to ten hits. In the fourth he had the bases loaded and the Natives were up. Bill Crosby did two men spoiled the chances so called on Andy Phillips, who was waving up on the still lines. Phillips sawed up the Natives by his wonderful pitching this frame and for the balance of the contest. He allowed the Merchants to solve his slants but let him get away from him. He took the bags loaded without being hit and managed to get himself out of the game.

MANY FEATURES. It was a fast played game and many features besides the pitching of Shurtz and the hitting of Shurtz and Fernandez, left a lot to be desired. The catching was a feature. While Lou Gehrig was a feature around the bat, the patch made him the star of the game. He found little trouble to get to Di. He was a double to catching frame and a nice, along with three boots by the Natives scored and Arlett's hitting in this frame big Artist was a star. The boss, holding the Natives to a few hits.

NATIVES SCORE EARLY. In the first inning Louie Goldstein walked.

The seedling of winter wheat is now generally completed throughout the world. However, according to reports received by the bureau of markets and crop estimates United States department of agriculture.

The seedling of all winter cereals has been hindered by drought throughout the world. Great Britain and Ireland stands and growth reported by the bureau of markets and crop estimates United States department of agriculture.

Weather and soil conditions have been favorable for the seedling and germination of wheat in Canada, and the crop should be in good condition. The condition of all wheat is favorable in the United States, except in the Argentine where the crop has been injured by drought and some late seedings have failed to germinate.

Conditions have been improved by recent rains. The condition of wheat in Argentina continues to improve, due to the abundant rains since September 15, which have broken the drought, which has been very unfavorable during the normal seedling period.

WIRE ADVICES FROM THE EAST TODAY ARE THAT THE RAILWAYS OF THE COUNTRY DURING THE NEXT THREE YEARS WILL NEED 20,000 NEW LOCOMOTIVES. JUST HOW MANY FREIGHT CARS OF ALL KINDS THE CARRIERS COULD USE HAS NOT BEEN CAREFULLY COMPILED, BUT IT IS PROBABLY A GOOD MANY THOUSAND. THE FACT THAT THE RAILROADS ARE ALREADY GIVING SMALL EQUIPMENT ORDERS IS TAKEN AS A MOST HOPEFUL SIGN OF THE GENERAL BUSINESS SITUATION.

Add to this is the report today that the net operating income of 176 roads for October was $104,189,987, the best showing since the government turned them back to private operation. Notwithstanding pessimistic stories here and there, the truth of the matter is that the roads, with very few exceptions, all report constantly increasing traffic. The railways are considered a very reliable barometer of general business and they register fair weather ahead.

PACIFIC COAST PRICES AND MARKETS'S COMMERCE

POULTRY DOES SHOW FIRMER PRICES, ARRIVALS HEAVY

Fig and Prune Demand Active; Coffee Quotations Add 2 Cents.

There was every indication of a bright outlook for the poultry market today. Not in weeks has a Monday received such promising business. The shipments were almost as fast as arrivals and prices remained firm. Potatoes did a little better. Northern varieties advanced to 10 cents a hundred more, while others stood hard at $3 a sack. The market for figs and prunes was active. The demand is active for all offerings and the prediction is for still higher prices before the holiday season is over. Texas is now growing very heavily on the up river growers. Recently the prune market has been showing definite signs of improvement and price advances on all sizes are quoted by buyers. Stocks have been diminishing steadily, so that the association is assuming a firmer position on which, together with a good demand for prunes, accounts for the maintenance of price firmness. Most other dried fruits are in a good position, due to stocks well cleared up. Imports of Mesopotamian figs in bulk form are increasing. The market for prunes is active. The price of prunes is a little better, according to schedule from New York, and the bulk article. The package product remains at its regular level and dealers say it is guaranteed. During the past month the New York market on prunes has advanced. An increase of at least 30 per cent was recorded during that period. The local market has followed the advance. The local market has followed the advance. The local market has followed the advance.

CHRISTMAS SEAL VENDORS TAKE UP FIGHT ON PAGUE

Volunteer Workers Open Up Booths Over County for Annual Stamp Sale.

Shoppers, pedestrians and citizens about town everywhere today were reminded that Christmas is not far off, for the time-honored and famous counters of "Old St. Nick"—the old familiar Christmas seals of the Tuberculosis Association were everywhere in evidence.

The fourteenth annual sale of the Tuberculosis Association Christmas seals opened in Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and other cities of the county today and volunteer workers, armed with thousands of the familiar stamps which custom and long usage have linked inseparably with the thought and spirit of Christmas, were busy selling the seals from stations located in public places in all parts of the city and county. The sale of the seals through the mails was started two weeks ago but the direct sale to the public was not opened until today.

In department stores, banks, office buildings, drug stores, post office, railway stations and hotel lobbies, women volunteers from clubs and civic organizations and young women prominent in social circles were assigned to their posts.

Mrs. Mark L. Requa, chairman of the Oakland seal sale committee; Mrs. Frederick G. Athearn of the Berkeley committee; and Mrs. John Parker of the Alameda committee.

Seal your mail with the stamp of health; pennies that buy health cannot be ill spent. is the slogan of this army which has volunteered to support the annual attack on the white plague through the sale of the Christmas seals. The sale will continue for twenty days, closing the last day before Christmas.

Sale stations in Oakland banks are being conducted by Mrs. Arthur Tashetra, Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mrs. O. F. Long, Mrs. A. D. Thomas, Miss Alice Requa, Mrs. W. W. Blair, Mrs. H. C. Brongher, Miss Lucy Herrick, Miss Margaret Herrick and Mrs. R. G. Brodrick.

Department store Christmas seal stations are in charge of Mrs. Harry Lawrence and Mrs. Morris Falk of Euell Club; Mrs. J. H. Everson of the Oakland Civic Center; Mrs. O. M. Thomas of the Glenview Women's Club; Mrs. E. M. Wright of the Plymouth Center and Mrs. Morris Major.

In the Oakland postoffices, Mrs. F. Adams and Mrs. E. L. Butler of the Oakland club have charge of the seal sale stations. At the Hotel Oakland station Mrs. Ernest Tanner is in charge. In the drug stores, Christmas seal stands will be conducted by Mrs. H. S. Kegan and Mrs. Charles Waterhouse.

Seal sale stands were opened today in the city hall, courthouse, Hall of Records and other public buildings by a committee of women volunteers headed by Mrs. A. T. Gamble and Mrs. James McAllister. In the various Oakland shops and stores seals are being sold from stations in charge of Mrs. Stanley Moore, Mrs. O. R. Morgan, Mrs. Donald McClure and Mrs. W. H. Brown.

According to Frederick Kahn, chairman of the county seal sale committee of the association, at least 2,000,000 seals must be sold this year to raise the funds with which to carry on the work of the association for another year. Twenty thousand dollars must be raised through the sale of these penny stamps to contribute to the bread and milk fund for underweight school children, to continue the summer camps where anemic children are restored to health, to maintain the free clinics and to pay for visiting nurses who call at the homes of the sick to educate and protect the family and the community.

3000 PERSONS AT MARINA FIELD SEE AVIATOR KILLED

Parachute Jumper Dies When He Plunges 1200 Feet in Daredevil Stunt.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—Bob Hastings, who came here from Fresno several days ago, was killed instantly yesterday when he dropped in a parachute from an airplane in a daredevil exhibition at the Marina. More than 3000 persons were on the field or in the vicinity when Hastings fell.

Hastings had gone into the air in a Vorney plane driven by Andy Andrews. After making two circles over the field Hastings dropped with his parachute from a height estimated at 1200 feet.

To those watching from the ground it seemed that the parachute was slow in opening and that Hastings was attempting to make the canvas spread farther. At a height of about 600 feet Hastings fell clear of the parachute, which was found to be intact when it was examined later.

Miss Mildred Ashman, local aviator, was to have followed Hastings on the program, but after his death she collapsed and had to be carried from the field.

DRUGGISTS SUE CITY TO TEST OUT SPIRIT LAWS

County Pharmacists Ask Ruling Upon Three Conflicting Liquor Ordinances.

To determine the validity of three city ordinances, each of which conflicts with the other two and all of which conflict with the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead act, W. W. Heathorn today filed suit with County Clerk George Cross against James T. Drew, chief of police; Commissioner Frank Colburn and the City of Oakland, asking $5000 for damages suffered by his business through the enforcement of the ordinances.

Heathorn, a druggist at Fourteenth and Kirkham streets, is acting for the Alameda County Pharmacists' Association, of which he is president, and the suit is entirely friendly, since it will settle and make certain a tangled situation that has perplexed the city authorities.

In 1914 Ordinance No. 624 N. S., called the Hart Ordinance, was adopted for regulating the traffic in spirituous, malt and fermented liquors and wines. In 1917 another ordinance covering the same ground was presented to the council and, being voted on in 1919, became a law. This ordinance, known as the Gon-salves ordinance, theoretically repealed the Hart ordinance.

In June, this year, the city council passed the Grant ordinance, known as the "Little Volstead Act," intended to supplement the Volstead act.

The Gon-salves ordinance has generally been considered unconstitutional and void, since the passage of the Eighteenth Amendment, and no attempt has been made to enforce it.

Recently the Oakland police department has made an effort to collect a license from druggists under provisions of the old Hart ordinance on advice of the city attorney that some of its provisions are still in effect, notwithstanding the fact that it has been repealed, theoretically by later city ordinances and national law.

Berkeley to Insure Red Cross Objective

BERKELEY, Dec. 5.—An effort will be made, it was announced today, to raise $1000 lacking from the total needed in the recent Red Cross drive here. Berkeley's quota was $10,000, and the roll-call showed that $9000 had been raised.

Approximately $4500 or $5000 of the money will be used for work in Berkeley, and the remainder will be sent to the national Red Cross headquarters, it was said.
